"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Norway Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information

If your back gives out;

Becomes lame, weak or aching;

If urinary troubles set in;

Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Ask your neighbor!

Local evidence proves their merit.

Miss L. A. MacInnis, in rear Beals Hotel, Norway, says: "My kidneys were in bad shape about three years ago. I suffered terribly from backache and often at night I had to get out of bed and walk the floor, trying to get ease from the pain. My head ached fit to split. My sight blurred and my kidneys were irregular and in my case showed they were at fault. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my home with good results, I decided to get four boxes at Noyes' Drug Store. After I had finished taking them I was cured. I have often spoken to others about what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me and recommend them at every opportunity."

Thanksgiving Festivities
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cummings, Frank Stone and Louise Foster took dinner, Thanksgiving day, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummings and family. The table was heavily loaded with good things to eat.

After dinner, Merle and Stanton Cummings presented each one at the table with a surprise package containing candy and a little surprise in each box and the one who drew the box with the penny received another sealed envelope in which they could find a handkerchief and several other useful articles. Geo. H. Cummings was the lucky one.

Mrs. Frank Cummings found a nickel in her box which was very small pay for the bountiful dinner spread before her guests. All enjoyed a fine time.

Mrs. Ernest Cummings was confined to the house, the past week, with a bad cold.

Mrs. O. D. Little spent the day, Friday, Nov. 26, with her sister, Mrs. J. Libby, of Harrison.

Mrs. Annie Holt of Norway, who spent Thanksgiving week at Merritt Sawin's, returned to her home, Saturday. Three of her children, Helen, Ruth and Richard, went back with her. Della and Edward will stay with their grandfather, Merritt Sawin, for a while.

One of McIntire's Old Trades
We notice in a recent issue of the Advertiser that the Editor refers to printing as a recent accomplishment of our friend, L. E. McIntire. Perhaps it is not so recent as the Editor would think. The writer still remembers Mr. McIntire's first start in that line.

When he was a small boy in company with another one, they edited, printed and published a wonderful periodical, which, if we remember rightly, was called "The Leslie's Weekly." The of the all of this paper was under the roof of the house of the neighbor's house. The of the all of this paper was under the roof of the house of the neighbor's house.

The other partner in this literary venture is now the Rev. Charles F. Hersey, ary at New Bedford, Mass.

Whether they will recall the above incident or not, we cannot tell. How about it?

NORTH WATERFORD

Poverty Ball

Over one hundred took part in the dance at I. O. O. F. Hall, Nov. 27th. Much credit is due John Evans, floor manager, and other friends in making it a success. Many ragged and laughable costumes were in evidence, many of them being made from old newspapers. Iva Ray, Fred McAllister and Leslie Hobson passed judgment on the most poverty stricken attire, and as a result Myron Lord was presented with a cod fish and Bernice Bedard with a box of chocolates. Inez Matherson was asked to collect the penny fines for white collars, jewelry, etc. her work was splendid, extracting many a laugh as well as pennies.

Elgie Lebroke served ice cream, which was sold out during intermission. Katherine Lord was awarded the prize chocolates on Boston Fancy. This is a fixture with the "Jolly Five" dances, some say a big candy manufacturing company furnishes this candy gratis to advertise. Another large box of chocolates, called the "Silk Girl" (actually dressed in silk) was displayed which will be awarded some lucky lady at their next dance.

BOB'S HIGH POWERED SEDAN MOVING SOUTHWARD

When Bob Seavey and Tony Young closed the Tavern it was with the distinct understanding they should keep our readers informed on their journeyings. This would in part recompense closing a much needed public utility and putting the loafers to expense and inconvenience.

They have neglected to keep the promise, but—our New York correspondent found them and here is what he says: "Bob and Tony have come and gone again. They arrived last Saturday night, (Nov. 27th) and left Tuesday morning, (Nov. 30th). I was sorry they couldn't stop longer, but yesterday, as I looked out over this rain-swept city, I had to admire their wisdom in spending so little time here."

They came up to the house Sunday afternoon and had dinner and spent the evening with us. I asked Bob why he hadn't called me up on his arrival, and he said they were both tired. I could readily believe it. Tony looked tired even then.

They had some adventures getting here. For some reason, Bob ran down by the way of Peterboro, N. H., and Tony said that they left that town on Friday morning, in the teeth of a howling blizzard, with seven inches of firm snow on the narrow, country roads. After making this statement he pulled his car thoughtfully and remarked that it wasn't a day he would have selected for the trip, but, the way things looked, it was then or never. They were the first over the roads, so they could not see the ruts, and a couple of times Lizzie dropped into ruts so deep that they had to get out and lift her back into the road again. But the little car ran well, and slammed through ruts and drifts until they were out of the country of bad roads and on a highway. They left all snow at Worcester, stopped overnight at Springfield and came down to the city the next day.

Just now we are having a spasm of automobile inspection, conducted by the Police Department. At any moment a driver may be hailed and commanded to pull up beside the curb, when a fat cop will solemnly inspect the motor and brakes, examine the license tags, and take a look at the operator's license. At the end of this "inspection," the driver is given a certificate, which must then be pasted on the wind shield. Unless this certificate is conspicuously displayed, the driver may be held up again at the next block. The big idea of all this, as explained by the newspapers, is to limit motor accidents, and to discover stolen cars by means of their motor numbers. But as a car may be in fine condition today and rotten to-morrow, and as the first thing an auto thief does is to alter the motor number, the scheme has been nothing more than a nuisance.

Bob had read of this latest custom of our "free" city, so when a cop hailed him he was prepared. "Why hasn't this car been inspected before?" growled the fat one. "I don't know," replied Bob; "perhaps because it's been in the city less than twenty minutes." "That so?" said the cop. "Well, it'll be inspected right now." So together they went over the car, the cop asking question and looking claims for the car that would have caused Henry Ford to blush. "You seem to know something about a car," said the cop at length. "I do," said Bob. "Then you know a damned sight more than I do," said the cop. "I've looked over lots of them, and I've talked enough to free Ireland, but I know no more now than when I began. Bad cess to me Inspector! Drive on, and God go with ye!"

Monday, Tony kept his chamber, something which he had eaten had disagreed with him, but Bob and I went down to the Butterick building. It was my first trip down town since my accident, and I wouldn't have dared try it if Bob hadn't been along. I found I was unable to go over the plant with him, so he took a guide and spent several hours on a tour of inspection. Toward evening we returned to the house, Tony came up, and we had dinner together. After dinner we went over the automobile maps, but first-hand information is better than any map, so we sent word to Ed. Strout that Bob was in town, and asked him to come up and help dope out a good route through New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He came right up and was able to give conditions. Between us all we doped out a route to Johnston, Penn., and a return to Washington, D. C. Bob said he simply had to see that city before he left home again. Below Washington I had some information as to the roads, and now Bob has a sort of a vague route all the way to Florida.

Late yesterday evening I received a postal from Tony, of which the following is a copy:

"Allentown, Pa., Nov. 30, 5:30 p. m. Arrived all O. K. Good roads, but poorly marked. Lizzie is doing fine. Try for Johnston tomorrow. Believe me, Bob is SOME driver when he gets in a crowd. Will write later."

(Signed) Tony.

The reference to Bob's driving through traffic is probably due to the fact that he drove straight down Broadway the entire length of this city. It's the best route going south, but it's one tough drive. Vehicles down town are thicker than hairs on a cat's back, and Bob went clear to South Ferry. Well, good luck to the pair of them. They're going to have a wonderful time. I'd like nothing better than to go with them, but that's impossible, of course.

I'm coming along very slowly, but nicely. I can walk nearly a mile now without becoming absolutely exhausted, and can sit in a chair for a while without having to prop up my bum leg. Sometime soon the doctors are coming for their final inspection, and I believe they will decide that no further operations will be necessary. I am told that all pain will depart two or three weeks after they stop manipulating the joints, so if I don't get anything else, I get a rest.

I've now given you all the news right up to the minute, so will stop writing. Remember me to all my friends in Norway, and let me hear from you from time to time as the spirit moves you. Trusting that Maine is not as dry as it is reported, and that the apple crop was a good one this year, I am,

Sincerely yours,

B. F. Wilder."

The letter was written to M. W. Sampson, who guides Mr. Wilder when he comes here bass fishing and stops at the Beals Tavern.

Mell Sampson: "I'm in the market for a real rabbit dog—not songs, pictures or stories—a regular dog. I need another large haul of red finned shiners was made this week by Palmer, Foss and Woodworth, who have entered into a cooperative bait business at Ward's."

Capt. Mel. Sampson: "To compete with other organizations in town the Weary Club wants to hold a fair if an open date can be found, and there is nothing like work in getting the show together. This will be strictly an easy going exhibition, not given because the club needs funds but to keep up with the style set by competitors. Nate Merrill is chairman of the refreshment committee, which includes a majority of the members."

Two good sized orders for shoes received lately will cause an increase in the volume of work at the Carroll, Jellerson Co. Cutters started again, Wednesday. While no rush on full time is expected, three or four days a week would be acceptable.

The American Legion have a minstrel show under consideration. Chester P. Gates was appointed chairman and will meet to talk it up and report how the chances look for a snappy black faced show. Thus far the local managers and theatrical talent appear willing to tackle the job and make it a successful benefit long to be remembered.

A dedication is to be held at the American Legion rooms on Monday, December 13th, at 8 o'clock, to the occasion. Several prominent military officials will be invited to attend. A gold watch contest will be decided at that time.

The village mail carriers are beginning to realize Christmas is not far distant. People have followed the advice to "shop early," therefore the mail pouches grow bigger and heavier as the days pass. Parcel post business has increased rapidly during the week.

American Legion Getting Settled

Members of the W. H. Stone Post, American Legion, have gone a long way toward getting settled in their new home. It is slow and expensive work fitting out an assembly room, two game and reading rooms. The lodge room has been furnished by the Harry Rust Post G. A. R., who have been given a home by the Legion. The Woman's Relief Corps and Daughters of Veterans, who also have the use of the rooms and share the expense for rent and lights, have done much to make the place attractive.

Generous friends presented mission furniture, including chairs and a table, to the reading room. Numerous magazines and other current literature have been sent to the reading table. Several persons have contributed money, and L. M. Carroll is furnishing, for the season's coal. This is a splendid beginning, and the boys highly appreciate this support and encouragement. A pool table, once the property of Company D in the old armory, will be removed and put in the rooms.

Considerable more remains to be accomplished before ideal conditions exist. This is not a private enterprise, backed by selfish motives, but a movement to organize all ex-service men under certain restrictions, which will guarantee uniformity of purpose and develop the best type of Americanism. It also perpetuates the "brotherly" spirit over the land, so wherever the soldier boy may go, he has loyal friends to offer sympathy and material help when sorrow or hard luck arrives. For this and many other reasons the citizens should feel a deep responsibility in the matter of helping the boys locate a cheerful home in Norway. Many with good intentions came forward during the various war drives, when spectacular stunts before the public were quite the thing and loudly applauded. Now the excitement is over the majority have settled back into an easy going rut, and entirely forgetful that the former soldiers have certain moral claims on the community, county and state, which should be paid.

Every person can help the Legion. Send magazines, books, furniture, money or anything to furnish a home. Games would prove acceptable. Their telephone is 26-3 and the rooms are open every day.

Helen M. Noyes went, Saturday, to the home of her niece, Mary Millett, on Water street, where she will spend the rest of the winter with her. Mrs. Fred Pike has returned home from the hospital in Boston and is making a good recovery. Freeman C. Smith returned from Bemis, this week, where he has been on repairs at the mill of C. B. Cummings & Sons Co.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

The new building to be known as Community Hall, where the public is invited to gather for recreation and sociability, was opened, Thursday, when the Ladies Aid held their fair there.

This hall was built on Lynn street by the Norway Methodist Society and joins the old edifice by a narrow passage-way into the vestry. The main entrance from Lynn street is through a good sized vestibule with lavatories and toilet rooms at either side. The main hall can seat comfortably at least a hundred people, this will be used as a diningroom when suppers are served, at other times tables holding reading matter and writing materials will occupy the space.

A large indoor tiled fireplace with a mantle at the rear of the hall suggests comfort and cheer.

Leading off from this room is a large kitchen fitted with almost every convenience. There is a range with tank and water on top in a sink nearby. Numerous cupboards, sideboards and drawers contain the dishes, cooking utensils and linen.

The basement has cement walls and floor, and contains the heating plant and fuel. Vacant space will be used for storage of tables, chairs and miscellaneous things. Electric lights are installed throughout the building.

Naturally the hall is under the management of the Methodist denomination, but as the name suggests, open house will be in order where members of this community can meet for reading or rest. Socials will be held frequently to bring the young people of the village together regardless of denominational preference, with experienced leaders in charge, will probably be open every day, at present the hours will be irregular until definite arrangements are made.

The contractors were Russell & Smith of Norway, and the greater part of the material came from the buildings which were once the home and laboratory of Dr. C. A. Stephens at Norway Lake.

Christmas Sale at Community Hall. The ladies of the Methodist Circle held their annual Christmas sale, Thursday afternoon and evening, at Community Hall, which was opening day for this new institution in connection with the Norway Methodist church.

Several tables were set in the main hall where articles appropriate for Christmas gifts were displayed. Mrs. F. A. Sullivan and her Sunday school class presided at the table where dainty underwear and fancy articles were sold. An apron table laden with all kinds of useful garments, was in charge of Mrs. Horace Kimball, Mrs. Lucretia Merriam, Mrs. Abba Clark, Clara Smith and Mrs. Ransom Gould. The mystic table attracted large patronage and was presided over by Mrs. Carrie Muirhead, Etta Noyes, Mrs. Ella Drew and Mrs. Lina Gary. Of course the rummage table was not overlooked by prudent buyers, as many excellent bargains were quickly snapped up. Mrs. Bessie Frost, Mrs. Scott Rottle, Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mrs. Chas. Damon and Mrs. Frances Lasselle handled this department. Beatrice Stone and her class presided at a place where a variety of home-made candies found a ready sale.

Supper was served to approximately two hundred patrons at half past six. The menu included baked beans, salads, and a large variety of pastry and cakes.

Mrs. O. L. Stone was chairman of the supper committee that included Mrs. Elizabeth Joslyn, Mrs. Cora Kimball and Mrs. Geo. Wiley. The young ladies of the society were the waitresses.

The fair was one of the most successful ever held by the society.

Knights of Golden Eagle Ball. The Second Annual ball under the auspices of Oxford Lodge, No. 2, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will be held at Norway Opera House, New Year's eve, Friday, Dec. 31. Bert Williams Jazz Orchestra will furnish music. Floor manager is Eugene A. Desceatup. Aids, Alton Curtis, J. Edmund Dyeret, George L. Curtis, Alton E. Luck, George E. Emerson and Everett L. McKay. Honorary Aids, Alexander Skillen, Windsor Castle; Thomas C. Bean, Forest City Castle, Portland; J. W. Larrabee, Lincoln Castle, Bath.

Transportation for South Paris at intermission and after the ball.

He Did Not Win the Nomination. Osman W. Brown of Lynn went before his constituents as a candidate for the City Council, and announced his fitness thus: "More than 20 years a newspaper reporter and never had to retract a story printed or be defendant in a libel suit. That record speaks for itself for integrity and honesty." Maybe justice has not been done in the premises.

Mrs. Cora Mains, who has been away for the past ten months, returned home, Wednesday. She has been with her son, Esca Mains, and family, in Hartford, Conn., and her daughter, Mrs. Gladys Fisher, at Cape Elizabeth.

Kenneth C. Gurney has closed his camp at Lake Keewaydin, East Stoneham, and is visiting his sister, Mrs. Clarence H. Downing, and family. Later he will go to Boston to work until spring.

The International Barbers' Alliance have decreed the price of haircut in the future will depend on the amount of hair to be cut. The maximum for this size is 50c and the minimum, 10c, graduated up or down as per the Hoxometer scale adopted at the recent convention of the Allied and Affiliated Branches of the I. B. A. That settles it. The baldheaded kickers will probably now subside and quit talking about the protracting of the barbers.

This is the laconic note recently sent by a washwoman to her exacting customer: "Shan't take out nothing, won't do any more washing—had grumbling enough."

The meeting of the Barton Reading Club was not held, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 2, with Mrs. F. E. DeCoster, because of the bad traveling.

Mrs. Sherman Rowe of Poland is the guest of her father, Thomas Thibodeau.

Earl Barker from Noble's Corner has moved into the small McCrellis house on Paris street.

Dr. Albert Thompson and daughter, Mrs. Made Thompson Kammerling, of Philadelphia have been the guests of Capt. and Mrs. William W. Whitmarsh, several days.

The steady rain, Sunday, had little effect on the snow in the roads, but raised the brooks and small ponds to flood pitch. The fields between Turkey Hill and Norway station, drained by many brooks were overflowed, Monday, as was the low land bordering the Little Androscoggin river.

Old Time Remedies Still Used. F. P. Stone, the druggist, filled a prescription No. 417 according to his files, which carried him back to the first book used by his predecessors nearly 50 years ago, when Al J. Rowe was the apothecary in a shop on the Main street lot where Walter Luck's residence, the Sawin place, is located.

The medical paper in question contained a formula prescribed by the late Dr. Calvin E. Evans who settled in Norway in the early sixties and was one of the prominent surgeons in this vicinity. This remedy must prove reliable to survive in an age noted for patent medicines, and yearnings to dabble with something medically new.

Dr. Peables, who afterward located in Auburn and became noted, wrote the first prescription for the house. Among the other doctors who contributed to the business were Dr. Calvin Evans, Dr. W. H. Jewett, Dr. O. N. Bradbury and Dr. Rounds (probably of So. Paris). Any bit of paper at hand was used to inscribe the prescriptions until Mr. Rowe issued a standard form a year or more later.

Not to cast reflections on others, nor in any way belittle the profession we can state with all fairness, the handwriting of Dr. Evans stands above and beyond them all for clearness.

Returning to the drug business of F. P. Stone, we find he represents a house carried on nearly fifty years without a break except in ownership and location. A. J. Rowe founded the business in a small shop located between the present residences of Dr. H. L. Bartlett and Mrs. Etta Austin. After a short time he moved to the present location. Later on the building was burned, but the new block as we know it, is an exact replica of the one destroyed.

Samuel L. Crockett purchased the real estate and apothecary business in 1881. Eight years later a drug clerk named Stone from Lewiston went behind the counter. Crockett was in the market to sell and young Stone after appraising the stock, made an offer which gave him the title, this was consummated on Jan. 14, 1889 and the name of F. P. Stone appeared over the entrance. The name is there to-day.

Among interesting items are prescription books on file at the store. The first proprietor started pasting the M. D.'s prescriptions into a discarded register from the Elm House. The practice has been kept up all these years and many volumes are filled. When Capt. Whitmarsh retired from that famous hostelry, Mr. Stone bought all available books and is fully supplied for years to come.

This pharmacy has been in active business the past forty-eight years. Commencing at No. 1, the filing has run consecutively to 73,000.

Dorothy Noble is caring for Mrs. Theodore Frost and son, who was born, Friday.

Leon Kilgore and Edward Lever have gone to West Stoneham to work in the woods for Winfield H. Brown. Charles Wentzell and Roy White are also at West Stoneham working in the woods.

Mr. Stone Smith of the village and Chester Flint at the Center were among the lucky hunters securing a deer. Clark C. Hunt and A. L. Wyman also shot a deer, last week.

Mrs. Alma Harriman and Mr. and Mrs. William Knightly have moved to the Hutchins place on Pleasant street, recently vacated by Bert Hutchins and family. This is Mrs. Harriman's and Mrs. Knightly's former home.

Contrary to the usual meteorological custom a sudden drop in temperature failed to develop directly after the thunder shower, Sunday forenoon. It was no clearing shower, either, for rain descended without stint until late in the afternoon.

Cooler weather came late, Monday.

Ned Packard has put a new sill under the porch, and repaired the steps at the Grange hall. This is only a temporary arrangement as the plan is to have stone or cement steps with a walk several inches higher than the one now used, next year.

Ted Young arrived with the new bus about 8 o'clock, Monday morning, after being on the road all night from Yarmouth. He found nothing "scorching fierce" as the rain hit harder nearer the coast. The Norway & Paris Transfer Co. made their first trip with the new outfit, late Monday afternoon.

Maurice E. Prince has been chosen secretary of the Loyal Order of Moose in place of A. J. Richardson, who resigned before moving to Massachusetts.

B. G. Ruel, a Grand Trunk agent supplying at this station, has decided to locate here, and is now the regular agent. He has roamed over the line, the past few years, but with his family will now buy a place and set up housekeeping.

Mr. Ruel has several propositions in view, chief among the propositions is the new bungalow on Tucker street for which he is bargaining. Mrs. Ruel and two children will come when a place has been secured.

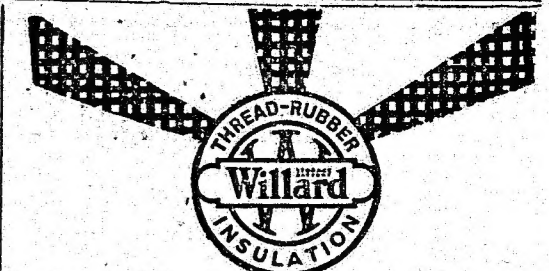

HE COULD HARDLY CLIMB THE STAIRS. Bangor Man Says Tanlac Ended His Rheumatism and Other Troubles.

"It's everybody's privilege to take the kind of medicine they want, but I'll take Tanlac in future every time," said Edward B. Foss, proprietor of the Bangor Electric Shoe Repairing Co., 123 Exchange street, Bangor, Maine. Mr. Foss is a member of Modern Woodman of America, and has a host of friends who will be interested in his remarkable experience with Tanlac.

"For some time I had been troubled with rheumatism, and in the latter part of last winter I got so bad I couldn't stand at my machine more than half hour at a time. And at night I suffered so much I couldn't sleep, but would be up and down all during the night. My joints hurt me so bad I had to swing my legs sideways in order to get upstairs."

"One day I went into Sweet's Drug Store and asked for something for my troubles, and they told me to take Tanlac and it seemed to help me right from the start. By the time I finished the first bottle I didn't feel any more rheumatic pains, but I went ahead and took another bottle to be sure, and I haven't a trace of it now. My appetite is so good I can hardly eat enough to satisfy myself, and I have gained in strength every way until my work never tires me the least bit, and in fact Tanlac seems to have made an entirely new man of me."

"Tanlac is sold in Norway by A. L. Clark Drug Co.; in West Paris by S. T. White; O. H. Haskell, Sweden, R. F. D. Harrison; Messrs. Hutchins & Webb, No. Fryeburg; Kidder Bros., Peru, and Mrs. Edith Hunt, Denmark."

OUR CHRISTMAS CAMPAIGN HAS STARTED

And every indication points to a tremendous holiday buying this year, and we think it will be very unwise to procrastinate and let your Christmas shopping be concentrated in the two or three days just preceding this festive occasion. Merchandise of the right kind is difficult to obtain, and as our present stock commences to diminish, as it will early, it will be almost impossible to replace it. Therefore, we cannot emphasize too strongly the advisability of doing the ordinary Christmas Shopping as early as possible.

We invite YOU to pay our store a visit when making your Christmas purchases. We have bought liberally and carefully, selecting nothing but standard goods, and feel sure that we can satisfy every demand and save you worry and trouble.

Your children appreciate Christmas just as you did, and their eyes will sparkle on Christmas morning at the sight of presents that came from our store.

We list a few of our many offerings:

SUITS
UNDERWEAR
HOSE SUPPORTERS
SLIPPERS

ARM BANDS

HANDKERCHIEFS
FOUR-IN-HAND TIES
SUSPENDERS
DRESS SUIT CASES

Many other useful gifts not mentioned and many of the smaller gifts will be placed in presentation boxes on request.

WHEN times grow dull, do you give up your electric service?

Few do.

That is one reason why a power company's dividends go steadily on, in good times or bad.

Deflation finds the power company in a healthy state. It has no inflated prices to cut, no inflated inventories to mark down. Its cost of doing business grows steadily less as deflation makes progress.

No matter how far deflation goes, the power company should steadily continue to pay dividends.

This strong likelihood of dividends paid regularly for all time, is doubtless one of the many reasons why the demand for Central Maine Power Company 7 per cent. Preferred Stock continues to be brisk.

It sells for $107.50 a share, to yield 6½ per cent. net—a high yield considering how excellent are the chances that you will always get it.

Helping Hands Banquet
The banquet at Centennial Hall, last week given by the Helping Hands class to the teachers and officers of the Federated Sunday school and their husbands or wives. About 50 were present and it was a very enjoyable affair. Three long tables were set in the form of a cross and made it seem as though all were seated at one table. Bouquets of red alder berries and pine branches decorated each of the four ends and one at the center.

The supper consisted of baked beans, salads, cakes and pies, and all the food looked dainty and tasted as good as it looked. Rev. H. H. Hathaway called the attention of the guests to the fact that the class was the best of the class in the Federated Sunday school. After all had done justice to the good things and had their fill, the toastmaster, who was Mrs. Minnie Day, the president of the class, announced the program.

There were welcomes and two-minute speeches for the good of the class by nearly every member, also songs and solos and a piano solo by Ruth Cole. Three of the songs were original words set to old tunes, written by the class teacher, Mrs. Julia Abbott Jackson. Mrs. Della Brock, class secretary, gave a brief report of the class which had just closed the first year of its organization.

There were over twenty adult ladies enrolled and the average attendance had been nine. Teachers of other classes in the Sunday school responded as follows: Mrs. Marilla M. Coburn for the Beginners class, Mrs. Mae B. Emery for the Primary class and Mrs. Anna W. White for the four Junior classes, each telling of her work in her particular grade. The impromptu response of thanks in behalf of the guests was given by Ethel Brock, one of the Junior teachers, and the class sang their class song, also having original words, which closed the program.

After the tables were cleared away a social hour was spent playing bean bag, etc. The Helping Hand class are a very efficient class and a very helpful adjunct to the church work in every way. Every member is a live member. "No Excuses" is their motto.

Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Markley, Beatrice Smith and Edward Penley attended the State Y. P. C. U. meeting at Lewiston, Friday afternoon and evening, and report a profitable meeting and a large attendance.

Mrs. F. H. Hill is visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. L. Emery, in Crystal, N. H.

W. H. Welch has moved into the Ed. Jackson house on Maple street.

A number from here attended Pomona at South Paris, Tuesday.

Birthday Party
A surprise birthday party was given to Mrs. F. E. Wheeler, Friday evening. About a dozen ladies called upon her laden with a birthday cake, punch and other things, and Dr. Wheeler, who was wise to the affair, added ice cream.

She received many nice gifts. Among them were flowers, letters of congratulations and a punch bowl and glasses.

The Rebekah Lodge No. 29 will hold a sale, supper and dance at Centennial Hall on Dec. 15. The sale in the afternoon will include fancy work, aprons, candy, vegetables, and canned goods. A mystery booth will prove one of the big features. Supper at 5:30 p. m. and a varied menu will be served. Dancing during the evening with music by an orchestra of three pieces.
